

CHEAP OR FREE SCREENFREE ACTIVITIES

- Visit libraries in other towns
- Listen to audio books, alone or as a family.
- Keep a piggybank and learn to count coins.
- Go on a flower hunt, photograph or draw them, learn their names.
- Do the above with leaves.
- Keep a family journal - draw and write about your adventures.
- Learn and play new card games.
- Visit a local, or not so local, art museum to sit and sketch.
- Create a photo journal of your day or week.
- Plant a garden or some herbs in a pot.
- Learn Origami.
- Visit a pet store to hold the bunnies, iguanas, etc.
- Sign up for a class at the Library.
- Go on a night hike with headlamps-even around the neighborhood.
- Have kids plan and research a day of only free things to do.
- Do a tour of the parks in your area.
- Make your own popsicles.
- Visit historical markers in nearby towns.

- Find a unique museum to visit.
- Plant sunflowers in your yard.
- Get a crossword or puzzle book.
- Visit a magazine store.
- Have a picnic in the backyard.
- Better yet, set up a tent in the yard for sleep or play.
- Learn to cook.
- Go geocaching.
- Visit a pet shelter. Check to see what they need and bring a small donation.
- Learn to sew or knit.
- Make homemade popsicles.
- Make slime or play dough.
- Learn a new math game.
- Take binoculars or a magnifying glass outside and discover a new world.
- Go miniature golfing.
- Visit a used book store.
- Look for local outdoor art and craft fairs.
- Troll Goodwill for a new-to-you board game.
- Teach teenagers how to list on Ebay.
- Search for best burger (or pizza or ice cream) in town.
- Check out this list of fun stuff to keep kids busy and off screens.